Visit to Billingsgate Market

On Monday, David Attenborough Class went to Billingsgate Market. Here, they learnt more about the different types of fish that are caught, where they are found around the world and also how to prepare them to eat! They had a chance to make their own healthy fish fingers, learn how to prepare prawns and even see the inside of a fish! It was a fascinating and brilliant experience that I'm sure they will never forget.

World Book Day

Pupils and staff celebrated World Book Day yesterday. The children had put lots of imagination and effort into their costumes, which they showed off to the judges during the parade. Well done to all of the children for their effort, and of course to the winners!

What is SEND in Schools?
